Chad Revis

Associate

Chad Revis is an associate at Holtzman Vogel, with a practice at the intersection of law and politics. He focuses primarily in the areas of environmental law and political compliance but works with any client navigating complex legal issues in heavily regulated industries to attain results.

Before joining the firm, Chad clerked for Chief Justice Carlos Muñiz on the Florida Supreme Court.

As a law student, he served on Attorney General Ashley Moody’s executive staff where he oversaw various successful statewide anti-human trafficking initiatives. During his time in her office, Chad was an integral part of Attorney General Moody’s team in managing her special projects portfolio covering law enforcement, mental health, and her role on the Statewide Task Force on Opioid Abuse. Chad also worked as a legal intern for the Republican Party of Florida and has a breadth of campaign experience in federal and state races.
